DRESSMAKER WORTH IS DEAD

He Might Have Molded Thought Instead of Fashion.

BEGAN LIFE AS A PRINTER.

Sketch of an Englishman Who Went to Paris and Became the Arbiter of Woman's Wear, PARIS, March 11.-Worth, the famous "man dressmaker," is dead.

Charles Frederick Worth was born in Bourne, Lincoinshire, England, in 1825. At the age of 13 he was apprenticed to a printer, his parents desiring that he learn that trade, but he evinced a strong hostility to handling type and abandoned the printingoffice after he had served about seven months. He then went to London and a situation in a draper's shop, which he left to enter the employment of Swan & Edgar, drapers, where he became a favorite, He first conceived the idea of designing fashions through conversations with the buyers of Swan & Edgar and frequently made suggestions which the heads of departments were not slow to see in a favorable light. The more he talked with the buyers, the more he resolved to go to Paris and soon began the study of French. When shortly after his arrival in that city secured shortly after his arrival in that city secured a place with Gagelin & Co., and in a few years was placed at the head of a department. In his new capacity he made many new departures. While in the employ of Gagelin & Co. he received medals for displays at the London and Paris expositions. Later he established the firm of Worth & Boberg and in 1870 founded the famous house of Worth. His fame as a dressmaker abounded and among the many admirers of his skill was the ex-Empress Eugenie, for whom he made a great many elegant to state their ages when casting their baldots. Many ladies talk strongly of testing the law upon the point.

One woman prominent in the political agitation said, when questioned about the matter, that a decision would undoubtedly be sought from the proper authorities.

"There are more persons in this mood than you may think," said she. "Especially among the unmarried women is this sentiment manifest. It is enough for a voter to say that she is over 21. It is nobody's business how much older she is, so that she is on the right side of the line."

BRITANNIA AND DAKOTAH.

Winners in the International Regatta at Mentone. METONE, France, March 11.-Many p ple came here from Cannes, Nice and other places to see a race between the Ailsa and may have to be sent to Marsailles for suitable repairs.

To-day's race was for a prize of 1,000 francs, offered by the President of the French Republic, M. Felix Faure. The course was twenty miles and the following yachts started: Britannia, Corsair and Valkyrie. The Britannia won.

In the race for small yachts the Dakotah won.

MUD RIVER'S MALADY.

The Strange Disease Is Frightening Even Physicians.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

ASHLAND, Ky., March II.—Latest reports from Floyd County brought by local traveling salesmen just returned are not at all encouraging for the early suppression of the strange malady that is raging in the Mud River country. It has become so violent that even physicians of the surrounding towns refuse to visit the victims. The death roll has exceeded fifty already, and the disease is on the increase. Instead of being small-pox, it resembles cholera, except that it chokes the victim to death, beginning in the stomach and rising to the throat. In almost every case it has been fatal, the victims seldom living more than three days.

PREMIER ROSEBERY.

Almost Wholly Recovered From His Recent Illness.

LONDON, March 11.—Lord Rosebery has almost entirely recovered from the attack of influence which has confined him to his nouse for nearly two weeks. He went to Windsor to-day in order to have an aulience with the Queen. Her Majesty starts for Nice on Wednesday next.

KILLING OF GIBBS.

Trial of the Robinsons for Buffalo's Mysterious Murder.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March II.—The District Attorney moved the trial in the Superior Court to-day of Clarence and Sadie Robin-son, indicted for murder in the first degree for killing Montgomery Gibbs, a young lawson, indicted for murder in the first degree for killing Montgomery Gibbs, a young lawyer, a year ago.

Gibbs was walking up a residence street bordered with mansions brilliant with lights about 10 o'clock in the evening. Suddenly three pistol shots rang out in quick succession and he was found dying from a bullet wound in the head, lying in the driveway leading to a fashionable residence. He expired without a word. His assailants had vanished and left nothing as a clew to their identity. Runnors soon connected Gibbs name with some of the familles in the immediate vicinity and hints of love affairs were rife, much to the annoyance of many innocent people. The theory that he was assailed by footpads was hardly credited. His watch and money had been untouched. A reporter found what he thought was the footprints of a woman near the spot. No arrests were made. Several months later the Buffaio police received word from the Cleveland police officials that they had Clarence Robinson under arrest and had wormed out from his pals a charge that he was implicated in a Buffaio murder. Assistant Superintendent Cusack of the Buffaio police went to Cleveland, arrested Robinson's wife, Sadle, who, thinking that her husband was to be charged with murder, confessed that she killed Gibbs herself, but refused to give any details. Robinson learning that his wife was under arrest for the murder made a clean breast of the matter, telling how he and his wife had gone out to "hold up some-body that night," she being attired as a man. Gibbs had resisted and in the tussle he had been shot. The District Attorney has found the disguise which Sadle wore on the night and other corroborative evidence and believes he has a strong case. There are many people here who think that the Robinsons will be admitted by the court as evidence against them and if so how much of it, and curiosity to see the pair and hear what they will say for themselves on the stand, filled the courtroom as soon as the doors were opened. The proceedings of getting a jury a seafaring man, appeared before Justice of the Peace Baldwin to-day and made a remarkable complaint. He was accompanied by Mrs. Nelson, a good-looking woman about 28 years of age. She said that about a month ago, just after her husband left home for a sea voyage, a man named John Swetzer, who lived in the vicinity, entered her house and, under penalty of being instantly killed if she refused, compelled her to accompany him to a nearby clergyman and marry him. She says she accompanied him intending to have nothing more to do with him. After the marriage ceremony was performed, he made a threat that he would immediately cause her arrest on the charge of bigamy unless she lived with him. She consented to do so under force of threats. When questioned by Justice Baldwin the woman said she had known Swetzer before she was married and he had always exerted an evil influence over her. After hearing both parties, the Judge told the woman he sympathized with her and that she was guilty of bigamy and liable to punishment for the crime, and suggested the arrest of Swetzer. Both husband and wife object to the notoriety of such a move. When the Justice advised her to leave the city, the woman took his advice and she and her husband have gone away. markable complaint. ister of 74 years, has assumed the task. He has just completed arrangements for handling the rough glass that is to be transformed into this great lens at his home in Greenville, and will probably begin work in a few days.

Mrs. Nelson Says She Committed Bigamy Against Her Will.

This lens is to be used in a telescope for the Methodist University at Washington. It is to be a monument to Rev. John Peate, much more significant than any costly column that might be erected to the memory of the grand old man. A plate glass works at Butler took the glass for the lens. Heretofore all telescope glasses of any importance have been cast in France. The lens, when it is completed, is to be sixty-two inches in diameter and seven inches thick.

DRIVING OUT NEGROES.

Their Behavior With White Girls Causes Trouble at Unionville. pecial to The Post-Dispatch.

Special to The Fost-Dispace.

UNIONVILLE, Mo., March 11.—A war on the negro population of this place has resulted from the shooting and killing Saturday night of Al Todd, colored, by City Marshal William Clark, whose daughter was found Monday last with Todd in a negro dive at Ottumwa, Io. When Clark, who alleges self-defense, gave himself up he was immediately released on a five dollar bond. Almost all Saturday night crowds, of determined men patrolled the streets and the colored population kept out of the way. Of late it has been known that different white girls of the city have been intimate with the negroes, but conclusive evidence was not secured until Todd was caught. The shooting diverted attention and prevented summary punishment being meted out to others, most of whom have now left town. A federation has been formed to get rid of all the negroes. This county borders on Iowa and gives a normal Republican majority of 1,000. UNIONVILLE, Mo., March 11 .- A war o

BOLD BURGLAR AND FIREBUG.

He Robbed and Burned a Butcher Shop and Looted a Saloon.

OVER $500 DAMAGE DONE.

A Valuable Watch Dog Was Stolen Saturday, and the Flames Gave the First Notice of the Crime,

An incendiary burglar ransacked Louis Barlow's butcher shop at 3510 North Market street, at 4 a. m., and set fire to a store-room on the second floor. About $500 worth of millwork, tools, baskets and store fixtures were destroyed.

Before he committed this dastardly deed the fire-bug house breaker forced an entrance to Dennis Sullivan's saloon, at the trance to Dennis Sullivan's saloon, at the northeast corner of North Market and Bacon streets. He cut the glass in the front windows and, passing through the aperture, burdened himself with as much whisky, champaign and cigars as he could carry. It is likely that he partook copiously of the stolen fire water before he went to Barlow's place and applied the match. The butchershop was entered through the rear door, which bore no marks of forcing tools and was probably unlocked by a duplicate key. The burglar filled a gunny sack with butchers' tools, such as knives, cleavers, saws, scales, etc., and with choice cuts of meat.

sack with butchers' tools, such as anives, cleavers, saws, scales, etc., and with choice cuts of meat.

He then ascended to the second floor by a stair case from the shop, and it is likely that he started a blaze there when he saw nothing that could be carried off.

Mr. Barlow says that there was no fire in the shop or the store-room, for he leases the whole building. After the fire gained headway the burglar left by the way he came, and dropped the sack of meat and tools in the yard.

Private Watchman Murphy discovered the flames issuing from the windows of the store room and called Mr. Barlow, who lives at 1923 Bacon street, a short distance from his shop. Murphy also sounded a fire alarm and the department quenched the flames, but not before the contents of the store room had been destroyed. The loss is covered by insurance.

Decisions Rendered by the U.S. Su preme Court.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11 .- In the United States Supreme Court, to-day, two decisions were rendered in cases involving In the first of these, that of Beautell vs. Magone, the Collector of the Port of New Magone, the Collector of the Port of New York, the question involved was the classification of certain rugs woven on looms not fit for weaving carpets, but which had been assessed as Wilton carpet, because the surface was cut so as to give it the apper ance of plush. The case was appealed from the Circuit Court for the Southern District of New York, which had sustained the classification of the Collector; but the Supreme Court reversed this decision, saying that Court reversed this decision, saying that the rugs were rugs, and not carpet. The other tariff case was Cooper, collector vs. John and James Lobson, involving the classification of certain goathair which the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania had held to be free of duty, contrary to the decision of the collector. The decision in this case was set aside and a new trial ordered.

Justice Gray delivered the opinion of the Court in the case of Catherine Goldey, appealed from the decision in the Circuit Court for the Eastern District of New York. This was a case in which Mrs. Goldey asked damages in the sum of $100,000, for alleged libel. The judgment was affirmed.

occasioned by the breaking of the vessel's shaft.

The court held, however, that the exception was not sufficiently specific and sustained the judgment of the court below. A vessel, said Chief Justice Fuller, in delivering the opinion, must be really seaworthy; it was not sufficient that its owners should think it was seaworthy. Justices Brown, Harland and Brewer dissented.

The court announced that the interstate commerce cases, one of which involves the long and short haul and another of which is known as the "social circle," has been restored to the docket for reargument at the next term. The court also announced a recess until Monday, the 25th inst., after disposing of the cases now on hearing.

BARLOW'S DOG STOLEN.

The burgiar was thoroughly acquainted with the neighborhood and he planned his crime deliberately, for Saturday night Mr. Barlow's shepherd dog, a vigilant and vicious watcher, was let out of the back gate and led away. Although he deplored the loss of the dog, Mr. Barlow did not realize the meaning of the incident until to-day. A 9-months old dog was not stolen and was in the yard when the burgiar entered, but gave him no trouble and did not raise an alarm. No money was in the saloon or butcher shep and the burgiar found the tills empty.

THE WEATHER.

Light Rain or Snow, Afterwards Clear

Weather Forecast for St. Louis and Vicinity—Light rain or snow, clearing on Monday afternoon or evening; colder on Monday night; probably fair on Tuesday.

For Illinois—Snow, probably heavy, tonight; Tuesday, fair and decidedly colder.

For Missouri—Heavy snow to-night; Tuesday, fair and decidedly colder.

For Arkansas—Showers to-day and tonight, followed by fair; northerly winds; colder to-night; warmer in the northwestern portion on Tuesday evening.

Since Saturday morning, a low area has moved up from the extreme Southwest, and has caused general rains and snows from the Middle and Southern slopes eastward to the Atlantic coast. There is also a low area in the Northern plateau, but it will probably be overshadowed by the high area, with a cold wave, which appears this merning in Manitoba, the temperature being a degrees below zero at Minnedosa.

Conditions in this vicinity are much unsettled, owing to the low area in the West Guif States, but there is a fair prospect of clear and comparatively cold weather on Tuesday. Weather Forecast for St. Louis and Vi-

CAPT. KOLB'S PLANS.

They Will Be Laid Before the Birmingham Meeting.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 11.-Capt Kolb, who claims to be the rightful Gov-ernor of Alabama, left Montgomery this morning for Birmingham to be present at the meeting of the Populist State Executhe meeting of the Populist State Executive Committee, which meets in Birmingham to-morrow. The meeting has been called for the purpose of deciding whether Alabama Populists will adopt revolutionary methods to give Kolb the seat he claims. Capt. Kolb was approached by your correspondent before he left, but declined to taik further than to say: "I have written a strong communication to the committee, which will be given the press." It is understood here that Kolb favors revolutionary methods and some of his friends claim that he can get 50,000 men well armed and equipped to move on the State Capital in 24 hours after the order is given.

Senator Goodwin and Representative Manning of the Populist committee are known to oppose Kolb's plan, but other committeemen indorse it.

But Her Fellow-Passenger Was Dead of Heart Disease.

KANSAS CITY, Kan., March 11.-On rowded Grandview car yesterday afterno of a seat, and for a block his body joited unamortably against a lady persenger on one side, and a man on the other. The lady objected to being so rudely jostled and Conductor Guiton spoke to the man. He did not answer. His head hung forward on his chest; he seemed to be asleep. The conductor shook him, put his hand beneath his chin, litted his head and saw he was dead. The woman screamed, and the car was soon emptied.

A search of the man's pocket revealed that he was R. P. Hosmer of 7 Park avenue, Chicago 43 years old. He died of heart disease.

SELF-DEFENSE HIS PLEA.

Jury Selected to Try Frank William For Murder.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., March 11 .- The Williams murder case came up this morning and the jury was selected. They are: John A. Koelling, A. C. Haefner, J. H. Mercer, C. S. Panmuis, H. Stuckhoff, Alfred Nahma, C. S. Panmuis, H. Stuckhoff, Alfred Nahms, James White, F. Kuester, E. H. Waulker, H. H. Barkler, W. M. Hammerle and Wm. Farher. Attorney Cunningham, in outlining his case, stated he would prove the crime was committed in self-defense, and that Joseph Corbett had nothing to do with it. Williams and Corbett are accused of having murdered Zude Gilbert, an old soldier, on Boulder Island, in the Mississippi River, a part of this county, about the first of October, 1893. They had all been fishing there with Mrs, Taylor and her 15-year-old daughter.

Foreigners Who Contribute to the Dead Letter List.

NEW YORK, March 11.-Assistant Post master Gaylor has collected some statistics with regard to dead letters in the New York postoffice. He finds that in a quarter an average of 57,000 dead letters sent by correspondents in the United States accumulate in the New York office. Of the foreign correspondents who contribute to the dead letter mail the Italians were the worst. The addresses on the letters are rarely explicit and often undecipherable. The largest number of dead letters in the foreign mail comes from Germany. In the last three months 7,500 German 4,000 Italian, 5,000 Russian, 1,000 French and 400 Spanish letters could not be delivered.

WHAT THE PEOPLE

THINK OF SAM JONES.

Expressions of Opinion Gathered From His Sunday Audience.

The Great Revivalist Critically Discussed From Many Standpoints.

Post-Dispatch Reporters Interview the Men and Women Who Go to Hear Him.

Rev. Sam Jones, evangelist, has been commended and unfavorably criticised by preachers and press. Hundreds of thousands, who never saw the man, have positive opinions as to his rank among preachers, his earnestness, his methods and his aims. It has been left to the Post-Dispatch to show the true measure of the man-to announce the verdict of a jury drawn together by curiosity, doubt, admiration, fervor or idle indifference.

At his services at Music Hall last night a corps of twenty-five Post-Dispatch reporters went among the auditors and, selecting the most competent listeners and judges, gave to each a blank card, headed as follows:

NOTE—Preachers and newspapers have made their estimates of Rev. Sam Jones. What is the estimate of the intelligent attendant at his services? Please write and sign with your name your answer to the following question, for publication in the Post-Dispatch. A reporter will call on you later for this card, or you can deliver it to the collector at the door.

The responses would fill two pages of the Post-Dispatch. From the answers the following are selected as fairly sampling the judgment of the audience:

I think Sam Jones is, without a doubt, the most interesting preacher that I ever had the pleasure to listen to. Everything is right to the point, and I think that is the way for preachers to be if they want to make Christians. Sam Jones is a good one.

JAMES SMALL.

I think Sam Jones is the only preacher.

Sam is immensely witty and always makes a hit, and people go to hear him because they like his wit. He is a workrous worker for justice and for right. And for God and liberty he'll always work and fight; but every Christian help him and give him money, too, This is what all patriots now should freely do.

Ways be Sustained by Americans who love the brave and free.

DR. RUFUS GIBBON WELS.

I think Sam Jones is the only preacher the country contains, in that I believe he is doing more good than any other, and the best thing that could happen to the United States would be to be burdened with a few more just like him. H. H. BRIDGLAND.

more just like him. H. H. BRIDGLAND.

I can say I have heard a great many speakers, but never heard any one jike him, and if he don't save many souls it will not be because he doesn't work hard enough. I am his well-wisher in the cause.

MRS. C. T. HALE.

I think he is a preacher that is calculated to do a great deal of good in calling drunk-ards and sinners of all types to a halt and putting them to thinking that the way of the sinner is hard and the wages of sin is death. I think his mode of preaching is the beat to reach the people. THOS. J. PEARCE.

I think he has a greater power for draw-I think he has a greater power for drawing people to hear him than any other living preacher. L. E. WALLACE. Have listened to the Rev. Jones three successive nights and consider him, although not particularly eloquent, an earnest worker in the cause, His sayings are sound and logical. S. P. BROWNE. I think he is a good evangelist. Here is a nickel for him.

Sam Jones is all right. He will take some to heaven and any one listening to him with an attentive ear will go home a better man. There is only one Sam J.

MRS. L. P. BEARLY.

Think it is the only way to reach the great mass of humanity in these days.

J. KERSHAW. I think him an earnest worker for Christ.
MARY STUBBLEFIELD.

As a minister of divine truths, Sam Jones has no superiors and few (quals, Give America, more Sam Joneses. W. WARD.

Can't be best. GEO. E. BOOTHE.

His manner of speaking, I think, is simply grand and would like to see him remain in St. Louis for the benefit of the people.

J. W. ROWLAND.

I am well pleased with Sam Jones' sermons; think him an eloquent preacher; would like to hear him every night. Hope the Lord will bless his labors.

WM. F. L. HOMMEDIEN.

I think Jones is an excellent preacher and loves his wife and home. I believe he lives what he preaches. Am well pleased with him in every respect. L. WISDOM. He is power. W. T. EVERHART. nome and his work. He is a man of great ability.

I think he is a very good preacher and means what he says, and is, indeed, a very sensitive, noble man, and I am surely pleased with him and his preaching.

CLARA McKINLEY.

I think Sam Jones is one of our self-made men and one of the most earnest preachers I ever heard.

I think that Mr. Sam Jones is the best preacher in the land to-day.

I don't think that there is a preacher in America to-day that can hold the attention of an audience as well as Sam Jones. As a preacher he is the coming man of the people. a preacher appeople.

I think he is one of the most powerful in the world.

E. A. MAYBERRY, M. D. I think he is a powerful temperance lecturer. I. C. SUTTON, 2000 Camble street.

I think he is honest in all of his ways.

J. C. VOGT, Whukesha, Wis.

Sam is all right. I verily believe he will be the grace of God and help of the Chris-tian people and accomplish much good. I pray that the Lord may help him on in his good work. W. H. ROSENBARGER, Princeton, Ind.

I regard Mr. Jones as a strong preacher of repentance. But this is only one of the Bible terms of salvation. The Apostles preached faith, repentance, confession of Christ and baptism in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins. However, Bro. Jones is doing a glorious work as far as it goes. ELDER R. E. LLOYD.

as far as it goes. ELDER R. E. LLOYD.

The best preacher I ever heard, without exception.

MRS. ROSS.

Before my first visit to his present revival meetings I must confess that I entertained a prejudice against him, which I find was unfounded. In the first place, I think, or rather know now, that he is a good and God-fearing man; in the second, that he is doing a world of good, and instly, that he is one of God's most earnest workers. May God bless him, is the earnest wish of good work. W. H. Roberts and the papers of Sam Jones I had formed a very poor opinion of him as a preacher of the Gospel. Since I have heard him I must confess I had formed a wrong opinion of him and am satisfied that a great many things printed as Sam Jones' sayings were false statements. I regard him one of the grandest men of this age and wish him Godspeed and, while I believe there is only one Sam Jones, pray God to send us more.

In my estimation, Rev. Sam Jones, as an administer of the Holy Spirit, has no equal. His sermons are not of the fruit variety, cut and dried before using, but fresh from the mind, like Thult fresh from the ree. They are also clever and catchy. He is a clever demonstrator of religion. made such a vigorous protest that the banks will probably feel obliged to take this step, even if they go no further.

A Post-Dispatch reporter was Monday morning shown four drafts on St. Louis, three of them from tewns within a radius of fifty miles of St. Louis, which had been cleared through Chicago banks in order to avoid the charges made by St. Louis, but not by Chicago banks. This state of affairs applies to many points in Missouri and more than one St. Louis merchant is now keeping an account in Chicago in order to avoid the charges made by local banks on checks from interior points. St. Louis banks are the losers thereby. Discussing this matter, a leading wholesale grocer said:

"Local banks are allowing country banks interest at the rate of 2 per cent and upward on their daily balances, claiming that it is done out of courteey. Tet these same banks not only do not allow interest on the daily balances of firms which carry accounts five times as great as those carried by the average country banks, but they make excessive charges for collecting their checks and seem to try to do everything in their power to drive capital away from the city. It is ridiculous for them to claim that they are losing money, when within the year their stocks have made heavy advances in the s.ck markets, one bank, for instance, whose stock was quoted at 80 about one year ago, now being worth from 134 to 136." There is some talk among merchants of forming a clearing house of their own to trade such exchange as would be needed but this is rather vague as yet.

The St. Louis Furniture Board of Trade will meet to-night, discuss the new rules and probably enter a vigorous kick against them.

NEW ELECTION LAW.

Reasons Advanced Why the Legislature Should Enact One.

Speaking of the necessity of the Missour Legislature passing an election law calcu-lated to insure purity of elections, Frederick lated to insure purity of elections, Frederick N. Judson in an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter sald:

"I think it will be a public calamity if the General Assembly adjourns without enacting a radical reform in our election laws. The so-called Filey bill passed by the House of Representatives is substantially copied from the Illinois law, and has many excellent provisions, as for instance, precinct registration for each election, with ample publicity, and other stringent requirements to insure honest elections.

"On the other hand, the appointment of a Board of Election Commissioners by the Circuit Court and making them and the judges of election officers of the Circuit Court are open to very grave objections. The Circuit Judges should not be dispensers of patronage and the subjecting of election officers to summary punjishment, without trial by jury, for violation of election laws, on the ground of their being dubbed 'officers of the court,' would be, to say the least of it, legislation of very doubtful constitutionality.

"The issuing of certificates of registration," it, legislation of very doubtful constitution-ality.

"The issuing of certificates of registration, as proposed by the bill pending in the Sen-ate, would open the door to very great op-portunities for fraud, and, in the opinion of many competent to judge, would be no im-provement on the present system. But by small precincts, with registration therein for each election, completed a sufficient time before the election to admit of impartial scrutiny and correction, with judges and clerks appointed at least sixty days before the election, subject to rejection by an im-partial tribunal on preferment of charges, would be an immense improvement over the present system, and would reduce to a minimum the opportunities for fraud. minimum the opportunities for fraud.

Americans Receiving Dividends From Foreign Corporations.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Treasur officials made an important ruling in respect to the liability under the income tax It is held that dividends received by a resident of the United States from corporations, foreign or otherwise, doing business wholly without the United States and having its principal offices and property out of the United States, must be returned as income. Such incorporation not being liable on its net profits, the dividends must be returned as income by the persons receiving the same.

returned as income by the persons receiving the same.

Judge Charles Speck, Collector of Internal Revenue of St. Louis, who incidentally has charge of the income tax collection, when shown the foregoing dispatch said:

"I have not received any official notification of such a decision, but I do not doubt that it is true, as the law reads that way. I do not think the citizens of St. Louis will be affected to any considerable extent by the decision, as I do not think there are very many capitalists here who have their money invested in foreign corporations. The decision is a very natural and a very just one, I think. For instance, if you are a stockholder in the Bank of Commerce and it declares a dividend, the bank pays the 2 per cent income tax on the profit and you are assessed your pro rata. But if you hold stock in a company in London and it declares a dividend you must pay the income tax on your share of the profit, as the company will not."

HE WILL ADMIT NOTHING.

The Original Jim Cummins Protests Against Exploiting His Name and Deeds of the Past.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

MT. VERNON, Mo., March il.—"Jim Cummins," or Joshua Craft, as he is now being called, the train-robber who is lodged in the Lawrence County jail, charged with having committed five train robberies within the last four months, is getting along nicely with his wounded hip, and there is no doubt that he will recover. He still suffers comwith his wounded hip, and there is no doubt that he will recover. He still suffers considerable pain, but bears it without wincing, displaying indomitable nerve.

Cummins was visited on Sunday afternoon in his cell by a staff correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, but he absolutely refused to discuss his case, save to deny positively that he had made a confession.

Dispatches from Southwest City have been printed in various papers to the effect that Cummins had given a brief account of himself and admitted having been connected with all five of the robberies of which he is now accused. These dispatches did not state to whom the bandit made his confession, but represented him as telling how he and his unknown comrade committed robbery after robbery, until eventually captured.

When Cummins was shown these telefession, but represented him as telling how he and his unknown commade committed robbery after robbery, until eventually captured.

When Cummins was shown these telegrams, he said:

"I have never made any confessions to any one. You are the first newspaper man I have seen. I deny having any connection with any of the robberies, and further than that, I have no statement to make at the present time. It will do no good to answer these lies. They are made up out of what they think is the truth."

"Is your name Joshua Craft?"

"It is not. My home is in Texas, though. I used to be a hostler there."

"Will you account for your whereabouts during the time of these alleged robberies?"

"Not now, I won't."

"Well, if you are innocent, why did you run when the posse got after you?" asked the correspondent.

Cummings turned over in bed, looked up oddly at Sheriff Manlone, who was listening, and then said to the newspaper man:

"Do you think that's a fair question to ask me?"

Having thus indirectly expressed his disapproval of this style of examination, he again turned over, as though to go to sleep.

Deputy Sheriff Leamens, who went from Mt. Vernon to Southwest City on March 6 to bring the bandit back to Lawrence County, says that, so far as he knows, the man made no confession.

It is not known here how the name of Craft came to be applied to Cummins, but it is supposed that the Texas detectives who were on his track identified him in some way, or else he really did make a confession, and is now regretting having done so.

He is very pleasant to every one, and is well liked by his keepers. His youth is so manifest, that his beardless, boyish face appeals to everyone. There is nothing—now, at least—in his manner or appearance to indicate a desperado.

Protest From Jim Cummins.

Since the arrest near Aurora, Mo., of the young train robber who gave his name as Jim Cummins, this name has appeared often in the newspapers with frequent reminders of the famous Jim Cummins, who formerly belonged to the Jesse James gang and was mixed up in several train robberies years ago in California. The real Jim Cummins has seen all this, and he has taken the pains to write a letter to the Post-Dispatch, drawing attention to the fact that he is not the man the authorities now have in jail at Mt. Vernon, Mo.

The letter is given in full below:

Col. Crisp's Protest Against Reducing the Appropriation.

Special to The Poet-Dispateh.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March II.—In the House Committee of the Whole Col. Crisp of Jackson took the floor and offered an earnest protest against the contemplated reduction of the Fish Commission allowance to $9,000. He read a letter from Joseph L. Griswold of St. Louis, condemning H. M. Garlichs of St. Joseph for his advocacy of the abolishing of the office of Secretary of the commission and the further reduction of the expense allowance of the commission to $6,000. Col. Crisp's speech and presentation of this letter were in reply to Garlich's letter to Dr. Tubbs and Col. Crisp on Saturday night. In the course of the debate, this morning, Sartin, of Benton asked Col. Crisp as to the scholarship of the Griswold letter, and whether he (Crisp) would submit it to expert inspection. This was, in view of the action of Col. Crisp Saturday night, analyzing and ridiculing the Garlich's letter. Col. Crisp agreed to cabmit the letter to such inspection when Dr. Tubbs stopped him in his reply to Sartin, declaring that the scholarship of the letter was not before the Committee of the whole. Whereupon Col. Crisp informed the Chair that he had violated all precedent and disgraced the high position he held by permitting a question to be asked and then refusing the person interrogated the right to answer it. Col. Crisp was very emphatic in his utterances and he excused the members from Southeast Missouri where wild fish are in existence in abundance of self-ish indifference to the welfare of people of other sections of the State, for whose benefit the work of the Fish Commission is prosecuted. The committee refused to reconsider its action of Saturday night in increasing the allowance of the commission to $15,000.

As explained at the Navy Department, the state of the case is as follows: It has been customary to allow the commander of a vessel to use his discretion as to the number of rations that might be commuted by each mess. This has led to some trouble. In some cases the commanding officer was very severe in restricting the number of commutations; in others the privilege was extended without restriction, so there was complaint among the sallors of discrimination. Again, it has been found that when a ship was called upon suddenly to put to sea, the messes were not properly supplied with rations owing to the number of commutations. In one case the entire marine guard of the ship was rationless owing to the defalcation of the caterer, who had gotten drunk and spent the mess money placed in his care. The department officials came to the commutation of the care the department officials came to the commutation that some rule was necessary to regulate the commutation of rations and an order was issued limiting the number which might be so commuted to one in each four sallors. In an ordinary mess of twenty men this would amount to 146.50 per month, a sum quite sufficient in the opinion of the department to supplement the regular naval ration is the best in the world, and that an American sailor receives almost as much food in one meal as a British sallor does in a whole day.

"If a Religion Cannot Thrive on Its Own Merits, Then It Must Fall."

ALBANY, N. Y., March 11 .- A letter writ yester Malone of Brooklyn as Regent of

Gen. Batchelor writes that Pope Leo led the conversation to America and said that his encyclical was at the time in the United States and would on that same day be given to the public. He said he himself had carefully revised the English translation. The Pope expressed regret that certain newspapers and vublic men in America had objected to his sending a Delegate to Washington or sending out an encyclical as tending to meddle with the affairs of a foreign Government, or with institutions with which he had no sympathy.

This is an error, said the Pope, "I do

EVEALED HER NAME IN DEATH

Kansas City's Suicide Proves to Be Mrs. H. C. Seitz.

SHE WAS A ST. LOUIS GIRL.

Cause of Her Deed a Mystery, But Prob ably Due to Her Husband's Disappearance and Ill Health.

The identity of the young woman who, under the name of Helen Lesser, took poison at the California House, Kansas City, on March 5, has been established by

A dispatch was received from Kansas ity this morning stating that five minutes efore she died last night she told those und her bedside that her real name was de Seitz, and that she was the daugh ter of Mrs. E. Sestey, a nurse in the St. Louis Episcopal Orphans' Home. Investigation at this institution resulted in the corroboration of these disclosures. Mrs. Sestey was seen and told enough to clear all doubt as to the girl's identity, al-though she could give no good reason for her wirely.

Mrs. Seatey was seen and told enough to clear all doubt as to the girl's identity, although she could give no good reason for her suicide.

According to the mother Gertrude, who was a nurse with her at the Home, left the place about ten days ago. The same night the mother received a letter from her stating that she was going away to rest, but not saying where and Mrs. Sestey had no knowledge that she was in Kansas City until informed of it by the reporter.

What there may be behind the girl's disappearance is still to come out. The intimation from Kansas City is that she quarrelled with a young man before leaving St. Louis, and that this trouble drove her out of the city, and eventually to her death. In fact the girl admitted this much on her sickbed. The mother states in most positive terms, however, that her daughter knew no men and that such an idea is silly. Gertrude Seitz was about 24 years old, according to the statements of her mother. Her former home was with her parents in Bunker Hill, Ill. About six years ago she met a young Southerner, Harry C. Seitz, and they were married. He was a book-keeper for some firm in Birmingham, Ala., and they went there to live.

Two children were born to them, but both died, and to add to their troubles Seitz lost his position. His circumstances became so bead that about two and a half years ago Mr. Sestey sent Gertrude money enough to come to Bunker Hill to tide matters over. She parted with her husband on the best of terms and kgpt up a correspondence with him for several months. The last letter she received from him stated that he expected to go to Louisville, and thence to Bunker Hill to lide matters over. She parted with her husband on the best of terms and kgpt up a correspondence with him for several months. The last letter she received from him stated that he expected to go to Louisville, and thence to Bunker Hill. Since that time no word has ever been heard of him, either by the wife or the parents of Seitz.

He disappeared as completely as though annihilated, a

It is these two things by which Mrs. Sestey acounts for the suicide.

Shortly after the disappearance of Seltz the Sesteys moved to St. Louis, where they have since resided. Mrs. Sestey has been working several months now in the Orphans' home and the daughter had been there a month before she went away so suddenly. Mr. Sestey is now very ill with consumption and unable to work.

When Mrs. Sestey was informed that her daughter had attempted suicide she expressed the greatest surprise. The information that she was dead was withheld from her for obvious reasons.

mation that she was dead was withheld from her for obvious reasons.

"Oh, the silly child, 'she exclaimed, "didn't she know that such a thing would hurt me more than anything on earth? How could she do it? She must have worried over her fear of consumption. There is not a particle of truth in the report that she had trouble with any man. At least, I never heard of it if there was, but the girl was always very reticent about her affairs. She sometimes spoke of going to Kansas City. I remember she once asked me how far it was. Itold her 900 miles, but she said she thought that she would go there, because she didn't like St. Louis. I never dreamed though, that she would do anything like this."

Before the reporter left Mrs. Sestey inquired anxiously as to her daughter's condition. The question was evaded and she exclaimed:

""The afreid she will not like for she never."

cciaimed:
"I'm afraid she will not live, for she never ould have told her real name if she had ot thought she was going to die."
Mrs. Sestey spoke more wisely than she lew when she uttered these words. for it was not until the girl felt death's clutch upon her that she gave up her secret.

"MOTHER WILL FORGIVE ME.

The Words of Mrs. Gertrude Geltz Just Before Her Death.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 11.—The young woman who attempted suicide-last Tuesday in a Union avenue lodging-house, and who gave her name as Helen Lesser of St. Louis, died last night at the City Hospital. Five minutes before her death she whispered to one of the nurses that her true name was Mrs. Gertrude Geitz, and that she was a daughter of Mrs. E. Sesty, a nurse at the Episcopal Orphans' Home, St. Louis. She gave no reason for having taken poison. Just. before she died she murmured: "My dear mother will forgive me, I know, for the shame I have brought on her by this. I wanted to die without her knowing what I have done, but I could not."

not."

Since the young woman was found unconscious in the lodging-house last Tuesday she had until the moment of her death refused positively to tell who she was. Her only reason for disclosing her true name at the last was to avoid having her body given for anatomical purposes, as is done with the bodies of all the unknown dead in this city.

PARKHURST WILL COME.

Reports to the Contrary Are Without Any Foundation.

St. Louis, as predicted in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, all statements to the contrary notpatch, all statements to the contrary not-hetanding. Dr. Parkhurst committed iself some time ago to aid the Sabbath lociation in their crusade in this city if dicient interest could be aroused to war-t it. Chas. E. Stokes. Corresponding retary of the Sabbath Association, said oday:

Secretary of the Sabbath Association, said Monday:

"It is a mistake to say Dr. Parkhurst has declined to come to St. Louis. As a matter of fact he has not yet received my communication. His declining the invitation tendered by the 'Committee of Safety' has nothing to do with this movement. He practically consented to nome in the interest of our association some time ago, and I this morning posted the letter containing our formal invitation. This, I have not the slightest doubt, Dr. Parkhurst will accept, though the exact date of his coming, of course, will not be known until we receive his reply. We intend to pursue this crusade until definite results are accomplished, and Dr. Parkhurst will scarcely refuse to aid.

us."

Mr. E. Reed, President of the Salesmen's Association, said that he had no doubt of Dr. Parkhurst's coming to St. Louis. He was found in earnest conversation with Attorney Hopkins, who has been retained as counsel by the association. When questioned as to the work done yesterday, Mr. Hopkins said:

"We have as yet made no arrests for vice."

torney Hopkins, who has been retained as counsel by the association. When questioned as to the work done yesterday, Mr. Hopkins said:

"We have as yet made no arrests for violations of the Sunday law, but I notice the moral influence of the movement has been felt. A great majority of the stores and salons closed yesterday of their own accord. This shows they realize we mean business, and are determined to avoid getting into trouble. A great deal of good work has been done through the association in a quiet way, and we do not anticipate a hard struggle to enforce the law."

"Do you think Dr. Parkhurst will come to St. Louis?"

"Yes, I believe he will. I understand the invitation has just been sent, and he could scarcely decline before receiving it. He is pledged to help this association in its work and will undoubtedly come."

It was noticeable that many of the saloons that formerly had their blinds drawn and did a rushing business Sundays yesterday had the blinds up and the visible interior was bare and deserted. Many anticipated trouble and were very cautious. The Planters' Hotel bar was a noticeable illustration. When built the door was not provided with a lock, it being intended the saloon should never be closed. At 4 a. m. Sunday, when a Post-Dispatch representative passed the door, it was barricaded by two huge chairs and impatient customers rattled in vain for admittance. The bartender appeared shortly, however and steered them around through the hotel.

Most of the retail stores were closed and it was self-evident that the movement had already accomplished much. But the workers are not relaxing their efforts in the slightest degree. One quiet Sunday is not enough. They are determined the law shall be enforced all the time and to the very letter.

BOTH CLAIM ADVANTAGE.

Situation of Affairs in the Pittsburg

Miners' Strike.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March II.—The strike of the miners of the Pittsburg district has reached that point where both sides are claiming the advantage. The miners say they now have over 5,000 men working at the 69-cent rate. The fourth pool operators held a conference Saturday evening, at which they agreed to pay the 69-cent rate, and most of the men returned to work this morning. The remainder will be at their places to-morrow.

The operators of the entire district will meet here this afternoon to discuss the situation, but a number of them are authority for the statement that they will adhere to the 65-cent rate and will make no overtures to the miners. They claim that the meeting is merely for the purpose of conferring together and is no sign of weakness on their part as construed by the employes. Col. W. P. Rend of Chicago, when asked if it were true that he had sent a telegram denying that he had granted the increase to his men, refused to confirm or deny the report. The fact that his men are at work is considered evidence that he is paying the 69-cent rate.

Sheriff Wilhelm of Fayette County sent deputies to the Stickle Hollow mines of the Washington Coal and Coke Co. Saturday night, having heard that the river miners contemplated an attack on the non-unionists who are at work there. No trouble occurred, however. Stickle Hollow was the scene of the bloodiest riot during the strike last year.

Owing to Business Depression, He Was Unable to Realize Ready Cash. Unable to Realize Ready Cash.

BUFFALO, N. Y., March fl.—John B. Manning, the maister, made an assignment to-day to John A. Kennedy of the Niagara Bank. The assignment is ascribed to the failure of the Standard Brewing Co., Baltimore, which owed John B. Manning and Manning & Sons upward of $100,000.

Mr. Manning has been Mayor of Buffalo and possesses large property interests in this city and vicinity, upon which during the recent period of depression he has been unable to realize ready cash. He has been looked upon as one of the soild financial men of Buffalo, and it is said that the assets will exceed the liabilities. The total liabilities are not yet definitely known. The preferences amount to $50,000. Mr. Manning was President and a heavy stock-holder of the Galland-Henning Pneumatic Maiting Drum Co., controlling a valuable patent used in malting in many cities.

WORK HAS BEGUN.

Eighty Men Given Employment on Car-

Eighty men were put to work at 8 a. m by the Carondelet Improvement Association on the Carondelet Park Lake. Sixty were provided with picks, shovels and wheelbarrows, twenty being employed stopping barrows, twenty being employed stopping the holes in the bottom of the natural depressions and cutting timber. About fifty more men will be employed Tuesday. The Lake Committee calculate that the lake, as outlined in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, can be built in six weeks. The lake can easily be extended at either end. The workers are old citizens of St. Louis, resident in Carondelet. The funds used are the residue of the Post-Dispatch Lake Fund.

The Committee on Streets of the Board of Public Improvements met in the Harbor and Wharf Commissioner's office and decided Wharf Commissioner's office and decided to recommend the approval of ordinances authorizing the paving of Olive street between Taylor and Walton, Taylor avenue between Lindell and Easton, Washington avenue between Taylor and King's highway, and Fage avenue between Sarah and Vandeventer, with asphait. The basis of competition will be broadened by framing specifications requiring an admixture, natural or artificial, of limestone, sand and mineral pitch or bitumen. This will admit numerous competitors of Trinidad Lake asphait, the natural bituminous rock that has hitherto had almost a monopoly in St. Louis.

TWO MEN FATALLY INJURED.

White Strikers Attack the Negroes Who Had Gone to Work in Their Places.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 11.—Blood-shed again resulted from the labor froubles on the levee to-day. At about 10 o'clock, levee laborers were walking along the wharf a few yards above Jackson avenue, when about fifty or sixty white men, armed with guns opened fire on them. There ap with guns opened are on them. There appears to have been no clash or provocation, and the shooting seems to have had no other cause than ill feeling between the union and non-union laborers on the levee. Three dozen shots were fired, many of which flew toward a ferry boat, then landing at the Jackson avenue wharf.

Two of the negroes, John Parker and Philip Fischer, were shot. The wounded men were removed to the hospital in a dying condition. No arrests were made, although there is a large number of police present.

Barbers in Convention.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 11.—The Barbers' National Association is in session here. About fifty delegates, representing all sections of the country, are present and the first meeting was held this afternoon for organization. The business of the convention will begin to-morrow evening, and from to-day only evening sessions will be held.

from to-day only evening sessions will be held.

The principal work of the convention will be to try to effect a consolidation of the National and International Associations. Both have the same objects in view and it is probable that a combination will be made. Another important object is to make apprentice rules, that cheap 5-cent shaving shops will be wiped out of existence.

BARR'S 46TH ANNIVERSARY.

Barr's celebrated to-day the forty-sixth nniversary of its establishm One could scarce believe while wandering One could scarce believe while wandering through hundreds and hundreds of feet of alsies, all crowded with the choicest manufactures from every land, that this magnificent emporium to-day is really the outgrowth of the modest little shop established almost half a century ago, when its present site on Sixth and Olive streets was almost the border line of civilization. But so it is. Barr's has kept pace with St. Louis and has always been first to anticipate its future greatness and has therefore been ready to cater to every necessity of the hundreds of thousands of people who now throng the streets of the erstwhile village of fifty years ago.

streets of the erstwhile village of fifty years ago.

The sales-rooms on the first and second floors at Barr's are in holiday attire to-day, and hundreds of palms and foliage plants, placed in convenient niches, serve to accentuate the brilliant coloring and the dainty designs of the fabrics, displayed. From early morn, the aisles were thronged with ladies, all eager to discard the trappings of the cold season for the smart, new, spring wardrobe, which they will just as eagerly lay aside for the dainty array of summer goods; and here is everything to choose from for spring. Such stuffs as cheviots and Scotch mixtures, and smooth-faced melange suitings, covert cloths, and the various weaves of crepon, which may be called the material par excellence for spring, and there is every reason to believe that the lighter weaves of silk and wool or pure silk will maintain their supremacy for the summer.

The new crepons come, not only in black, but in exquisite colors, and ready made exists of the material fashoned in the new.

a bewildering display of exquisite fabrics, which must be seen, as no description could do justice to the novelties introduced in weaves and coloring. Even at this early date the correct fashions in summer goods may be ascertained in advance, and the prudent women, they are all predent of course. the correct fashions in summer goods may be ascertained in advance, and the prudent woman (they are all prudent of course) will gladly avail herself of this opportunity to utilize the Lenten duliness to prepare her summer wardrobe in advance, availing herself of this opportunity to choose promptly from the first exhibit of fabrics, and thus secure the choicest patterns. The new organdles are charming in tints and design; dotted Swiss is again to the fore, and there are ginghams and dimities in countless pretty patterns and most alluring colors. Most of the current fashions demand a liberal use of decoration to properly emphasize their distinctive features, and for this purpose the display of garniture is very prodigal, rich and tasteful. The ever popular Vandyke, in lace or jet or applique, white or cream or black or colored, easily holds its own, and associated with it are laces and galloons and braids of every description. There are many new patterns in laces and there are endless novelties in "chokers," berthas and yokes for the bodice in silk, lace and chiffon. In the millinery department small and large chapeaux are receiving about equal attention, and in every case there is a liberal adornment of ribbons and flowers. As these are only demi saison hats the millinery opening proper will not occur for a week or two yet.

Here, too, may be found very large and complete line of frocks and underwear for children, as dainty and rell made as the most exacting mother alght require, and at very reasonable rices. Indeed, with the advance made in a he past year in the item of ready-made lothing for ladies and children, particularly in gowns, it would seem as though the women are about to be emancipated from stitch, stitch." No one need be told that inder this one roof can be obtained almost everything necessary, not only for the complete furnishing of a lady's wardrobe or a child's, and, indeed, everything essential to the outfitting of a man, save the tailoring, but one may also find here the entire furnishing of a house, even to the bricabrac for the mantel, the art glass and china for the cabinet, the silverware and the homely furnishing for the kitchen. And when tired of examining all of the things which delight and clothe the outer woman, she may betake herself to the elegant new waiting rooms on the second floor to refresh herself, then take one of the new elevators to the basement where she can, at her leisure, enjoy a delicious lumpheon. Factories are already completed, and the gas may be offered for general use within a short time. It is now used in a house in this city, and has been found in every way practicable. The new illuminant is acetylene, the lowest gas in the series of hydro-oproduct, which are the foundation of organic chemistry, and enter into the composition of many of the most important products of coal tar and petroleum. Yesterday was an auspicious day for the local cycling clubs, as it marked the beginning of the riding season. The weather and roads were all that could be desired, but the attendance on the runs was not up but the attendance on the runs was not up to last year. The South Sides had about the largest number of club members out. The deciding game in the foot-ball series doubtless kept many members of the Cycling Club away. The Pastimes and the Victors were noticed on the road, but neither one had over a handful of members present. Punctured tires were greatly in evidence. During the afternoon a great number of unattached riders were noticed on the boulevards and in the parks, and if the percentage of new wheels is any criterion, St. Louis' cycling population will easily double itself during the coming season.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 11.-Harry T. Hayward, convicted of the murder Catherine Ging, has three months to live. Sentence was passed on him by Judge Sentence was passed on him by Judge Smith this morning, after a motion for an arrest of sentence by Mr. Erwin had been denied.

Harry came into the court in the same leisurely, calm manner that has characterized his demeanor all through the trial, and surveyed the crowd coldly while the handcuffs were being removed. Judge Smith agreed to examine the grounds urged for a new trial on March 28, and then passed sentence. He said he had no doubt whatever that the verdict was a just and righteous one, and while he did not believe in capital punishment, it was his painful duty to pass sentence in accordance with the law. "The sentence of this court," he continued, "is that you be taken to the Hennepin County Jail and there confined until, after a period of three months, a time fixed by the Governor of this State, you be taken to the places of execution and hanged by the neck until you are dead."

Harry listened calmly and sat down without the slightest show of feeling.

TRYING TO SAVE THEIR NECKS.

Fitzwilliams' Murderers Confess the McCulloch Assassination.

EFFORT TO GAIN MORE TIME. Story Which, in the Light of Past

Events, Seems to Be of a Rather

Unreliable Character. Jim and Ed Murray, the negroes sentenced o hang Thursday of next week for the urder of the Midland Railway motorma and conductor, Edgar Fitzwilliams, on the night of September 26, 1893, are resorting to desperate measures in an attempt to avertheir impending fate. They have made written statements to Sheriff Garrett, preending to explain the mysterious murde f Banker McColloch at his home in Ferguson, May 19, 1893, in the hope that they may secure from the Governor a commutation of sentence or at least a reprieve.

tion of sentence or at least a reprieve.

Both the McCulloch and the Fitzwilliams murders were committed in St. Louis County and it was supposed by many that the same men were implicated in both. William Hensley, colored, was the man who first told the police that the Murray boys killed Fitzwilliams. When the Murrays were arrested they admitted being on the car whereon Fitzwilliams was killed, but they claimed that they were accompanied by Hensley and a negro named Georg Kirby. They further charged that Kirby killed Fitzwilliams, and that Hensley was the man who pulled the trolley off the wire, thereby throwing the car in darkness. Their story about Hensley was not given general credence, as it was attributed by many to a motive of revenge on their part against the man who was the cause of against the man who their imprisonment.

THE SECOND CONFESSION. January 6, 1894, however, they told as even more sensational story about Hensley and Kirby. They informed Sheriff Garrett that Hensley had confessed to them that he and Kirby had murdered Banker McCol-To a Post-Dispatch reporter, who visited them in jail at Clayton, both Jim and Ed Murray described the manner in which Hensley told them he and Kirby had which Hensley told them he and Kirby had murdered McColloch; how they went out the Wabash tracks from St. Louis and laid around Ferguson until the lights went out; how, when everything was dark, they climbed into the McColloch home from a porch, through a back window; how Kirby in going through the banker's trousers, knocked over a chair and caused a noise which awakened McColloch; how Kirby and Hensley then jumped through the window; how Hensley got behind a tree, but Kirby ran into McColloch, who had followed him out on the porch, and shot him. Kirby, alias Charles Williams, in the penitentiary at that time for larceny, emphatically denied the Murray story when asked about it. Hensley was arrested and indicted for complicity in the Fitzwilliams murder on the strength of their story, but was discharged on his trial. He is now in St. Louis.

murder on the strength of their sum was discharged on his trial. He is now in St. Louis.

Later the Murrays told Sheriff Garrett still another story about a fellow called "Dude Charley" being implicated in both murders, On reading their description of "Dude Charley" in the Sunday Fost-Dispatch Constable Charles T. Edler of Luder township, Montgemery County, remembered having arrested a man named Charles Williams, alias "Dude Charley" for a burgiary at Warrenton and hawing him sent to the penitentiary for three years, Jan. 12 he came to Clayton with a sensational story to the effect that this "Dude Charley" had admited to him that he was present when Banker McColloch was killed and that he had seen Ed Murray do the shooting. Next day, when the negro was seen at the penitentiary by a Post-Dispatch correspondent he denied all knowledge of the McColloch murder and said that although Edler had questioned him about it, he told the Constable he knew absolutely nothing about the case.

questioned him about it, he told the constable he knew absolutely nothing about the case.

NOW THE LAST EFFORT.

That settled the matter for awhile. The Murrays were both tried and sentenced to hang, one in St. Louis County and the other in Gasconade County. The Supreme Court affirmed the decisions and the date of the executions was set for March 21.

Now, driven to desperation, Jim Murray comes to the front with another sensational atory. This is to the effect that he himself was present at the McCulloch murder and that he was accompanied by Hensley, Harry Smart and Henry Shelton. Smart is another name for "Dude Charley" Williams, who was sent up from Warren County. Shelton, Jim Murray says is well known St. Louis negro, now up in Lincoin County. Shelton, Jim Murray says now that he and Hensley hid behind a tree and that Shelton and Smart got in the house, that Shelton fied when McColloch awakened and that Shelton fied when McColloch awakened and that Shelton fied when McColloch awakened and that Shelton fied when McColloch the murdered banker's son, does not take much stock in Murray's latest "confession."

"All I know about that 'ing paper. If the there was gin Murray's latest "confession."

the matter. I haven't heard from them yet."

Sheriff Garrett did not take Jim Murray out to the McColloch farm to-day, and he said he would not take him out of the jail until the day of his execution. The Sheriff says he did not make any further investigation to-day of Murray's confession of the McColloch murder, and did not try the key which Murray says was taken from the house the night of the murder. Two MORE MURDERS.

Minneapolis has two more murder cases, Max Peigert, who was stabbed by Paul Kleinschmidt Friday night, at a birthday party given by their landlady, died this morning, Kleinschmidt is under arrest and will be tried for murder. He pleads self-defense. The second murder occurred in Northeast Minneapolis to-day. As a result of a long series of family quarrels Nicholas Bodvin, twice through the head. The boy claims that his father attacked him, but circumstantial evidence seems to show that the boy approached him from behind, struck his father with some blunt instrument and then shot him. After committing the crime he gave himself up.

GETTING TOGETHER

Preparing a Democratic Council-

manic Slate. Among the rank and file of the party he talk now is that Col. Ed Butler, C. C. Maffitt and Dr. F. J. Lutz will dictate the Democratic councilmanic state. With these three bosses working together it is admitted that they can control the machine, and whenever there is an object to be gained, it is claimed, they con gamed, it is claimed, they come together readily enough. Personally and politically Butler and Lutz do not seem to have much use for the other, but the workers assert that each is too clever to let the other interfere with his political wire-pulling. is a power in local politics and in order to protect his street railway interests he is certain to demand his share of the ticket, when it comes to naming councilmen. If the workers can be believed these three men have the power to dictate a slate with-out outside assistance, but it is conceded that the O'Meara-Brady-Higgins wing of the party, in North St. Louis, will secure recognition. This element was very much in the saddle last fall, but the downfall of the ticket knocked them out to a certain extent.

Nevertheless, as long as Brady remains chairman of the City Committee and Higgins continues Recorder of Voters, Butler, Maffitt and Lutz will scarcely ignore their sponsor, Lieutenant-Governor O'Meara. gins continues Recorder of Voters, Butler, Maffitt and Lutz will scarcely ignore their sponsor, Lieutenant-Governor O'Meara. According to this figuring the ticket will be selected by Butler, Maffitt, Lutz and O'Meara. The workers are convinced that this quartette will agree upon six names before the 'eighteen are submitted to the convention. If such an understanding is reached twelve "dead ones" will go before the convention, to be knocked down.

In the way of dividing up the ticket the knowing ones seem to think that Butler and Maffitt will get two men aplece, leaving the remaining two to be divided between Lutz and O'Meara. Of course this is only a surmise of what the machine bosses are figuring on and working for. It is conceded that their indiuence was all powerful in the convention last Wednesday, and just at present it looks as though they will be just as strong on March 16.

However, there, is many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip, and the sentiment against boss rule is liable to assert itself in the ranks of the unterrified, when least expected. In allowing themselves to be led like sheep last Wednesday the delegates anything but satisfied the rank and file of their party. This fact has demonstrated itself throughout the wards since the convention, and it may bring about disastrous results 'to the promotors of the postponement scheme. By the time the convention meets they may find themselves overwhelmed by the fear of boss rule, and in that case the slate will have to be a strong one to pull through.

The bosses may find it an easy job controlling the committee of twenty-eight, but it may be another matter altogether handling the convention.

COURTESY AS AN ASSET IN TRADE.

In the interviews with visiting merchants published in the Post-Dispatch last Friday there is a pointer that should prove helpful to our business men.

Almost with unanimity the ladies and gentlemen who were in the city buying goods spoke appreciatively of the per sonal courtesies extended to them and of the disposition manifested to make their stay in St. Louis pleasant. They also made mention of the fact that in Chicago and New York their treatment is quite different. There a visiting merchant is looked upon simply as a buyer. Goods are shown him with cheerful alacrity, a ledger account and nothing more. He may be a stranger with but a vague ides of what is best worth seeing in the great city where he is temporarily sojourning A few hints or suggestions would add greatly to the profit and pleasure of his stay. But they are not given. Except in a few instances no personal relations whatever are established, the clerks standing as much aloof as the head of the

The fact mentioned by our visitors that in St. Louis it is different shows that our business men have a better knowl edge of human nature. It also points the way in which St. Louis can still further differentiate herself from her competitors. It would be worth while for the clubs and business organizations of the city to adopt systematic plans for making the stay of our visitors agreeable. At any rate they should be made acquainted with St. Louis and with its recent progress as a trade and manufacturing center. Courtesy costs nothing. Yet as it is a graceful adornment of social intercourse so in business it is one of the best of

MORE CITIZENS FOR MISSOURI.

The people of Missouri are becoming interested in the subject of immigration to this State. They have grown weary of seeing the procession pass over our fertile soil, our vast mineral resources and magnificent opportunities to States less favored. And they perceive the hour is ripe for securing to Missouri a great army of desirable citizens.

The General Assembly was urged by Gov. Stone, early in the session, to enact some measure looking to the encouragement of immigration, but only one billthat by Senator Walker-is in a position for passage. The Senator's proposed law is founded, upon right principles, and while the machinery suggested is and while the machinery suggested as somewhat cumbersome, its enactment will serve the purpose temporarily and enable much soud to be done before the next blennial service.

In yesterday's sunday Post-Dispatch a number of prominent ultisens of Missaude should be about Advertisers are showing appreciation of the fact that the Sunday Post-Dispatch roes into more St. Louis homes and eaches more buyers than the Globe-Democrat and Republic combined. OUR VICTIMIZED GOVERNMENT. Adam Smith, the fountain-head of nodern sconomic science, laid down certain fundamental principles regarding money which have a special bearing on the situation in this country and the recent action of the Government. He demonstrated that the demands of trade regulate the money supply and the inflow and outflow of money; that it is impossible either to stop the importation or exportation of gold when the conditions of trade demand its importation or exportation, and that there can be no more foolish and useless action on the part of a government than to attempt to regulate the rate of exchange or the supply of money.

Yet the Sunday Post-Dispatch yesterday reported the efforts of the Belmont-Morgan syndicate to regulate the rate of exchange in pursuance of a compact with the Government. The Government actually entered into a contract with group of bankers to do the impossible, if present money conditions are the results of freely operating natural causes. If, on the other hand, the bond syndicate can do what it has contracted to do, the conditions are not natural, but have been artificially created for the purpose o profiting by them.

In either case the Government is a victim. If the syndicate cannot carry out its contract the Government has been swindled, and if it can, the Government is the victim of its own folly and of the unscrupulous cupidity of a gang of speculators who have induced it to follow a misguided policy which has given them control of the money market. HOW STREET CLEANING MONEY GOES.

The streets of St. Louis have been dirty and are dirty. Scarcely a pretense has been made of cleaning them. Yet the appropriation for this purpose is nearly exhausted and the demand for cleanliness at the most critical time of the year is met with the plea of poverty. This plea cannot be accepted in justification of the failure of the Street Cleaning Department to do its work. The Street Commissioner cannot say that the money appropriated for street cleaning has been inadequate. The report of the Council Retrenchment Committee and the bills introduced in the Council providing for the reduction of the force in the Street Department show that the money has not been expended in honest but has been wasted in super fluous salaries and useless inspectors It has been used to maintain a political

This is the kind of misgovernmen which has left St. Louis with a treasury stripped of money and streets full of mud and filth. It must be stopped. DOWNFALL OF A BOSS.

Boss Platt is going the way of Boss Croker. His alternative of rule or ruin has brought him face to face with ruinjust as it brought Croker before him Gov. Morton has revolted from the yoke and with him are leagued Saxton and Fish, who respectively preside over the two branches of the Albany Legislature. This means that Platt's attempt to use the Legislature to coerce Mayor Strong into submission to his will in the matter of appointments to office will be thwarted Beaten in the city, if he loses control of the Legislature there will be nothing left for Platt but to step down and out. With his prestige gone his power will be gone. If he cannot reward friends or punish nemies his occupation is lost.

New York is to be congratulated upo the outcome. No matter what party he belongs to, the Boss is always of necessity the foe of decent politics. He lives by corruption and by the use of the offices mere spoils. Reform is to him the cant of hypocrites and any movement for purer government simply an effort of the "outs" to get "in."

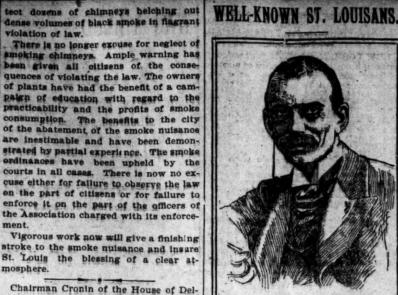

The Boss must go—in St. Louis as well as in New York. We are bossed too much.

SMOKE OUT THE NUISANCE.

The record of the Smoke Abatemen ssociation shows good work in the line of abating the greatest nuisance from which St. Louis suffers. But while the officers of the Association are justified in saying that the standard has been elevated and the amount of smoke hrown into the atmosphere considerably reduced, yet the work is far from fin-ished. There is frequent backsliding to the old standard.

During the recent gloomy days the atmosphere d wn town has been filled with soot and of high office noke and the occupants tings could easily

Apple Cure for Dyspepsia

Not only are apples of well recognized hygienic value, but there is an apple cure for dyspepsia, just as there is a milk cure. Some physicians that practice the apple cure require their patients to eat from one to three apples for breakfast, about as many for luncheon, and permit them to take a dinner of moderate amount and variety. This diet is sometimes kept up for many weeks together, and with marked results. Stale Bread Made Into Busks for Cheese

How to Make a Cup of Coffee

Two ounces of coffee to one pint of boiling water makes a first-class beverage, but the water must be boiling, not merely hot. Bitterness comes from boiling too long. If the coffee required for breakfast he put in a granitzed iron kettle over night, and a pint of cold water be poured over it, it can be heated to just the boiling point and then set back to prevent further ebuiltion; it will be found that while the strength is extracted the delicate aroma is preserved.

Origin of the Blouse.

After the fall of the Roman Empire the sexes started about fair in the matter of clothes. Our Teutonic ancestors adopted a costume which was almost the same for men and women, and conisted of two main garments, the Roman tunica and the toga. The tunica was really a shirt with long sleeves, and was buckled at the waist. The men wore it reaching to the knee and the women to the ankles. In colder northern latitudes the men, as a great innovation, added trousers, but these were looked upon in the light of a distinct extra, and were not considered obligatory in hot weather. There seems to be no doubt that the blouse of the modern peasant is a direct descendant of the tunica.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Advice to Sam Jones to the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I presume it must be conceded that the Rev. Sam Jones must be perfectly familiar with the methods of the preachers, and it is fair to assume that he knows what he is talking about when he says in his sermon last Sunday: "I never did dispute the fact that God called all the preachers to preach. I believe he did, but I believe if he called some of them, he called them to keep them out of devilment." some of them, he called them to keep them out of devilment."

In the light of the above and in view of the fact that the eloquent evangelist was flanked by a number of preachers on the stage, it is not at all surprising that he should have arrived at the following conclusion, to wit: "The great need of St. Louis is one man and the town ought to import one. There are plently of little pieces of men, but if I had to make a man out of the material at hand. I tell you, I'd be mightly economical with my dirt."

It seems to me unfair that the reverend gentleman should judge the whole town by "the material" he had at hand, and hes to suggest that if our good brother will take the time and trouble to become acquainted with our citizens he will find men of true worth and practical charity in abundance; men who walk with the Master by "feeding the hungry and clothing the naked," instead of sitting in judgment upon their brethren.

I have voted the Democratic ticket all my like and I would like to see bimetallism earried out inside of the Bemocratic party, as suggested by the Post-Dispatch and the Mexico Intelligencer, but I fear that such an undertaking will be useless. The Democratic party almost from its beginning has been divided upon some of its principal features. Before the late war the party North and South was divided on the slavery question. After that matter was settled the tariff question was not wholly indorsed by the party, especially in the Hast. I once heard it said that Sam Randal was a good Democrat in all things except the tariff, and the condition confronts us to-day that the Eastern States are good Democrats in all things except the tariff and finances.

"Toilet."

The history of the word toilet is an interesting one. Coming from the French as a diminutive form of "toile." meaning linen, it became "toylet," the cloth that drapers wrap about their bales of goods. It was next applied to articles made from linen, especially to a cloth thrown over the shoulders by barbers while cutting the hair. It then came to mean a cloth laid over the dressing table, and a definition of the word made in 162 super "Toilet, a kind of table-cloth or carpet made of fine linen, satin, velvet or tissue; spread upon a table in a bedchamber where persons of quality dress themselves, a dressing cloth." So the word journeyed on, meaning successively a bag for nightclothes, articles used in dressing, mirrors, boxes, combs, etc., the processes of dressing, and finally was applied to the dress itself, as in the expression of a "toileb of green, blue or plak."

Avoid Damp Beds.

Avoid Damp Beds.

The direst mischlef may result from the contact of an imperfectly heated hody with sheets which retain moisture. The body heat is not sufficient to raise the temperature of the sheets to a safe point, and the result must be disastrous in the extreme if, as is sure to happen, the skin be cooled by contact with a surface colder than itself and steadily abstracting heat all the night through. There is no excuse for the neglect of proper precaution to insure dry beds. Servants are never to be trusted in this matter, and the managers of hotels, even of the best description, are singularly careless in respect to it.

The steam launch Asia, Capt. Robinson, has arrived here from Bocas Del Toro with dispatches for the Governor of Panama. dispatches for the Governor of Panama. The Captain reports that a body of armed Colombian revolutionists under Generals Garxa and Reles landed near Bocas Del Toro last Thursday night. At 4 o'clack the next morning they attacked the station, shot down the guard and liberated the prisoners. Garxa then demanded the surrender of the barracks. As an answer he received fifteen bullets. In the fishting which followed the revolutionists lost five men killed, five wounded and ten taken prisoners. The Government lost ten killed and several wounded. Some of the soldiers vives were wounded also. A rebel who undertook to set fire to the barracks was shot down in the act. The revolutionists fied.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, March II.—The Atlanta left Colon a few days ago. It was understood at first that she was going to Porto Bello to paint and for target practice, but it leaked out the next day that she had orders from Washington to go forthwith to Bocas Del Toro. Numerous vague reports of trouble at that port have been received within the past few days, among others that an American vessel had been fired upon while trying to land arms there. People who have friends or inferests in Bocas Del Toro may feel pretty confident that ample protection will be given by Capt. Cromwell's sallor men from the United States cruiser Atlanta.

At the Navy Yard it was said resterday: "Cromwell may be relied upon to do his full duty carefully, calmly, gallantly. He is one of the most fearless officers in the service. He knows international law and has always been zealous in looking after the interests of his gountrymen abroad."

The Atlanta Could make it very hot for the turbulent troops, and she may be relied upon to do it if occasion demands. She is a central super-structure, protected steel cruiser of 3,185 tons displacement. She is 270 feet long, has 42 feet beam and 18 feet draught, and a speed of about 16 knots. Her arms consist of two eight-inch rifles, mounted fore and aft with a train of 76 degrees; six-inch broadside guns and a secondary battery of two six-pounder rapid-fire guns, two three-pounder rapid-fire guns, two them has a marine guard of twenty-five men.

Mr. Flint is used to Latin-American revolutionists. Some times he turns them to pecuniary advantage. He fitted out the amous cruiser, Nictheroy, with her dynamite gun, which had a great moral effect upon Admiral Saldanha Da Gama in the harbor of Rio Janeiro last spring, but which never went into battle to the great attsfaction and comfort of her officers and crew. "You see," said Mr. Flint, "this revolution is of no commercial significance at the second of the harbor of Rio Janeiro last spring, but which never went into battle to the great satisfaction and comfort of her officers and crew. "You see," said Mr. Flint. "this revolution is of no commercial significance at all, so I have not heard anything of it. It has about the same effect from a commercial standpoint that an Indian fight in the Far. West would have upon the New York Exchange."

Garza caused President Diaz of Mexico many sleepless nights a few years ago. He also disturbed the social functions of a number of United States army officers stationed on the Mexican frontier, over which he was wont to cross and make raids upon the cattle, sheen and bank accounts of the border ranchmen in Texas and New Mexico. He had collected about him a band of horse thieves, desperadoes and other persons of low moral character, and on a platform of liberty and low taxes for the Mexican people he excited considerable sympathy among many of his fellow-countrymen who had never made his personal acquaintance, and who looked on him as the leader of a revolution. The cherical party in Mexico, which has never been on cordial terms with President Diaz, gave Garza pecunlary aid, and he flourished extensively until the fall of 1892 when the Mexican troops drove him into Texas. Garza retired to Nueces County, in the Rio Grande country, where he was surrounded by Capt. J. G. Mr. Summerlin was not at all supprised to see that the woman had taken up her quarters at the same hotel. Leaving his baggage at the hotele, Mr. Summerlin quietly left the hostelry and caught a west-hound train. He returned to St. Louis, and took the first train East again. Unon his arrival set Wheeling he found that the woman detective had learned of his sudden departure. and had followed him on the next train for the West. Mr. Summerlin proceeded to Haltimere, where he met Garza again. They traveled together to New York, where Garza met more of his sympathizers, and remained as their guests for a few weeks, and then he took passage on a Mallory Line steamer for Key West, where he had a brother residing. It wes Garza's intention to spend a few days with this brother, and then proceed to Port Lima. Costa Rica, where he had been offered a position with the sovernment of that country.

Immediately upon his arrival there he was appointed to a far Federal position, which he held for several years, ably assisting his fellow-officials in plundering the Government under an official seal.

Garza returned to the United States in August, 1893, and spent three weeks at the World's Fair. He registered at the Palmer House under an assumed name, but was recognized by several paonle. He was not molested, however. On his return to Costa Rica he resigned his Government office and engaged in mercantile business. He prospered in trade, but when the Columbian revolution began he sould not resist the temptation to take a hand in it. He offered his sword to the Colombian revolutionary cause, but knowing his record in Mexico as a bandit, smurgler and counterfeit revolutionist, the Liberals declined his offer without thanks. Garza was determined to participate in the revolt anyhow, for the spoils that might be in it. After fighting had been going on for some time and the whole country was much disturbed, he crossed into Colombian requirer. It was reported that he had organized in Costa Rica a force of Colombian requirers. It was reported that he had organized in Costa Rica a force of Colombian refugees and rebels who had been driven over the border, and had led them back. It doubtless was that force which he led in the attack on Bocas del Toro.

He Will Not Be a Candidate for Re-elec-tion in Mississippi.

GREENVILLE, Miss., March II.—It is announced here on reliable authority that United States Senator W. Z. George will not be a candidate for re-election at the expiration of his present term. Under Mississippl's new Constitution Legislators are elected only every four years, and the only regular session of the Legislature to convene before the expiration of Senator George's term in 1899 will be the body composed of members elected in November next and convene on the first Monday in January, 1896, which body will elect a successor to Senator George.

This public announcement of the determination of Senator George to retire will prove a political sensation in Mississippl, and several prominent men will at an early date enter the contest for his seat. It is already understood that Congressman H. D. Money, John M. Allen and ex-Gov. Robert Lowers have their eyes on the place.

There is no reason so far given for the determination of Senator George to retire from Congress at the close of his present term, except that after nearly thirty successive years in public life, eighteen of which have been served in the Senate, he desires a rest from such exacting duties.

$250 Plate Glass Window Broken. A valuable plate glass was smashed to smithereens this morning by the crowds that swooped down on the Globe Fire Sale, in their wild clamoring for bargains in foot-wear. Such a sight was never before witnessed in the history of a bargain sale. People actually fought for supremacy in their mad desire to secure first choice of the bargains offered. The Globe, northwest corner of Franklin avenue and Seventh street, indeed deserve credit for their keen fore-sight in taking advantage of such a sacrifice purchase, as their Friedman Bros. & Schafer Washington avenue fire stock is proving to be. Good shoes are actually being sold as low as 25c, 50c and 75c, and for even the ridiculous figures of 5c and 10c. Attacked by a Panther.

Money Killed Him. FALL RIVER, Mass., March 11.—Patrick Sullivan, aged 59, about 9 o'clock last night went to bed with three pieces of money in his mouth. When his wife went to awaken him this morning his body was cold, and he had probably been dead several hours. Sullivan had swallowed a half dollar, a quarter dollar and a nickel.

Hostilities Will Cease Only After Treaty of Peace Has Been Duly Signed.

TOKIO, Japan, March 11.—China has been informed in general terms of the conditions upon which Japas will consent to peace. Japan has been notified that China is ready to accept those conditions and to sign a

The correspondence by means of which this agreement was arrived at was carried on through the United States Ministers to the two countries, Mr. Edwin Dunn, at To-kio, and Mr. Charles Denby, at Pekin. FIGHTING MAY NOT CEASE.

FIGHTING MAY NOT CEASE.

WASHINGTON, D. C. March II.—The fact that Li Hung Chang's credentish had been pronounced satisfactory by Japan, as announced by oable, was regarded at the Legation here as evidence that China was really in earnest in her expressions of a desire for peace.

Japan will not make knewn officially her demands until the negotiations are formally opened, but an unofficial indication of the extent of these demands is not improbable. That this should be given to the beligerent powers through the medium of the friendly American Ministers would be natural. The good offices of this Government had been tendered for just this purpose.

It is not generally thought that China's expressed readiness to accept Japan's terms will cause an immediate cessation of hostilities. Japan does not trust China, and it is a well accepted fact that not until the treaty of peace is signed will she stop pushing on to Pekin.

It is expected here that during all the time that will be taken to conduct the negotiations for peace Japan will be fully as active in prosecuting the war as of late, or as she has been at any time since it began. She thoroughly understands Chinese diplomacy, and has made up her mind not to lose any of the advantages she has gained or give China any opportunity to catch her breath through alleged desires for peace.

Japan will continue, according to the belief here, to press China just as hard as ever until her terms are agreed to and peace is formally declared.

SOUGHT PEACE IN DEATH.

McNeely's Attempted Suicide.

Florence McNeely, the 18-year-old girl who attempted suicide Sunday night by shooting, at her home, 1318 Wash street, is shooting, at her home, 1318 Wash street, is at the City Hospital in a critical condition. She is very weak and suffering intense pain. The bullet entered the left side of the stomach, Tour inches below the twelfth rib, perforating the intestines in six places and lodging in the back. Dr. Marks performed laparatomy, sewing up the holes in the intestines and putting in a drain. He was unable to locate the bullet. The girl says she shot herself because she was deserted by her lover, William Glebe, a bartender for George Lark, Seventh and Walnut streets, Giebe, she says, left her a manth ago because of lealcusy of a man named Wigman. She wrote him begging him to come to her, but he paid no attention. She then hought a revolver with the intention, she says, of shooting Glebe and herself. Sunday night about 8 o'clock she went to make a final appeal to Glebe to return. Not finding him she returned to her home and shot herself.

Against Jeptha Simpson's Estate.

Judge Flitcraft gave a decision Monday in the case of Robert Rutledge, trustee, against the estate of Jeptha H. Simpson, deceased, allowing a demand against the Simpson estate of $4,465. Simpson was administrator of the estate of Joseph Brewster, which consisted of $10,287 in cash and $5,714 in notes. As the notes could not be distributed among the heirs to advantage it was agreed by the Probate Court and Rutledge to collect the notes, which was done. Simpson died without turning the notes over to Rutledge and the latter brought suit against Simpson's estate. The amount allowed is the agreed statement of the value of the notes.

HE ACTED QUEERLY.—John A. Le Claire, 32 years old, an employe of the Stoddard Watch Co. at 113 North Sixth street, acted strangely at the new Everett House, 225 Olive street, Sunday, and was sent to the City Hospital by the police to have his mental condition examined.

CITY NEWS.

Dr. E. C. Chase,

HAVE THE RIGHT MEN. Police Say as to Saturday Night's Arrest.

The police claim to have evidence that Charles Barnet, James Wesley and James Murray, who were arrested Saturday nights on suspicion of being safe robbers, are the men who blew open the safe of the Heitzberg Packing Company, 319 North Broadway, about two weeks ago, and at Station D. Post Office a few days later. Charles A. Herald, the watchman at Heitzberg's, who claimed to have been bound and gaged by the burglars, visited the Four Courts Monday morning to see the suspected men. When they were brought out he stated that although he could not identify them positively they answered the descriptions of the men who robbed Heitzberg's and that he thought they were the men.

Barnett was sent Monday to the Police Court on the charge of carrying concealed weapons and associating with thieves and his case was continued by the city until March 12.

The pictures of the men, together with weapons and associating with thieves and his case was continued by the city until March 13.

The pictures of the men, together with full descriptions, have been taken by the police and will hereafter grace the rogues gallery. The pictures and descriptions have also been sent to all the principal cities in the hope of further identification.

A telegram signed "Lida" found in Barnett's pocket at the time of his arrest, stating that the sender would arrive in the city Sunday morning caused the detectives to watch for her, thinking that through her they might learn something regarding the men under arrest. She arrived on an Iron Mountain train, coming from Dallas, Tex., and was taken before Chief Desmond. She gave her name as Mrs. Lida Arnold and said her husband, Sam Arnold, lived in Wichita, Kan., but that she left him four years ago because of his intemperance. She stated that she, met Barnett in New Orleans three years ago and had been on friendly terms with her ever since. She claimed to be entirely ignorant of anything criminal about Barnett or to have any knowledge whatever of the other two men. A search of her baggage revealed nothing of an incriminating nature, but several letters were found addressed to her from Barnett which show the latter to be a crooked gambler and to have been in trouble recently with the police at Houston, Tex. As there was nothing on which to hold the woman she was released from custody.

The three men have retained Attorney William L. Fitzgerald to look after their interests.

WIGGINS FERRY CHARGES.

Merchants Taking Steps to Reduce Switching Fees.

The Wiggins Ferry Co. is being roundly abused by local merchants for the charges made for the use of terminals at East St. Louis, the charge being $5 per car for switching from any of the railroads to the river, Except by the payment of these charges, shippers cannot get to the river at all, as the Wiggins Eerry Co. owns all such terminal facilities. St. Louis and East St. Louis businessmen expect, in a short time, to bring the matter before the Illinois Legislature in the hope of getting some relief. Owing to the character of these charges, it is stated, in five years there have not been five cars of hay handled at East St. Louis for reshipment to Southern points, until the past week, when, owing to the low rates made by the new barge line, forty cars came in. It is authoritatively stated that no less than 300 cars a week should and would pass through East St. Louis each week but for this charge.

There is talk of building a belt road at East St. Louis to place Illinois shippers in a position to reach the river without being subjected to this charge. At present, on hay, the charge is 50 cents per ton for switching, while shippents can be made to New Orleans at 22 per ton, loading and unloading free for shippers, while the Wiggins Ferry Co. compals shippers and receivers to do their own handling.

St. Louis merchants say they are in danger of losing nearly all of this business from Southern Illinois unless something its done toward getting a reduction of these charges, as the Chicago, Paducah & Memphis Railroad, which is now in operation from Marion to Altamont, Ill., is extending its line from Altamont to Paducah, and when finished it will take all the freight business of Southern Illinois to the Ohio River for reshipment there. This road crosses the Ohio & Mississippi at Salem, the Louisville & Nashville at Mt. Vernon and the Cairo Short Line at Benton. There remain only seventy miles to be built, through Johnson and Massack Counties, to get at the Ohio River. switching from any of the railroads to the river, Except by the payment of these

W. P. MAGRANE'S DERBY ENTRIES

Great Expectations for the St. Louis Horse, Frank K.

RECORD OF FONSO'S SON.

He Has Met Some of the Most Cele brated Horses on the Turi, and Has Victories to His Credit.

The Chicago Derby, guaranteed to be worth $25,000, and the National Derby, guaranteed to be worth $20,000, are the two great racing fixtures of 1895. Both events are to be under the control of the cont include all the prospective great 3-year-olds on the American turf. One of the most promising is William P. Magrane's bay colt, Frank K., by Fonso, dam Belle of Brooklyn, who, in the estimation of many of the knowing ones, was the best 2-year-old on the Western circuit last sea-

SANGER WILL JUMP.

The Crack Class B Man Will Join the Professionals

NEW YORK, March 11.—Walter Sanger, the Western class B man who is said to have contracted to ride on an Eastern team this year for a large salary, announces that after this year he will become a professional. Sanger believes that the L. A. W. should permit racing men to dispose of their prizes for cash, in which event there would be an object in racing. According to existing rules, Sanger says that all his winnings have been of no financial value to him, as he has been compelled to retain all of them.

both events in the future books. According to the latest quotations, Diggs and Lissak are held equal favorites for both events at 10 to 1. Next in favor with the bookmakers, are Agitator, Urania, Flying Dutchman, Gotham, Magian, Prince of Monaco, The Commoner, The Butterfiles, and Waltzer, at 20 to 1 each.

Frank K. shows up on the slate at 25 to 1. He has this price all to himself in the Chicago Derby, but Flying Dutchman and Ritty Cleve are each quoted at 25 to 1 along with him in the National Derby. This event will be run at Harlem, over one and one-half miles, and the Chicago Derby at Hawthorne, over one and one-quarter miles.

cago Derby at Hawthorne, over one and one-quarter miles.

Magrane's colt was trained at East St. Louis during the winter of 1892-93, and his claim to prospective greatness lies in his victories over Lissak, Leo Lake, Flying Dutchman, Toby, Rey del Carreres, Ashland, Linseed, Neutral and other speedy youngsters at Chicago last season. Frank K.'s first start was at Hawthorne, May 14, when Moderocio, 110, defeated him at four and a half furlongs in :58 flat. Frank K. carried 113 and was beaten one-half a length.

At Hawthorne, on May 26, Toby, 115, defeated Frank K., 111, in the C., B. & Q. stakes, five furlongs, run in 1:04%. At Hawthorne, on June 2, Toby, 103, again defeated Frank K., 104, in the Hawthorne stakes, five furlongs, run in 1:03. At Hawthorne, on June 18, Frank K., 113, turned the tables, defeating Toby, 115, in the Horseman stakes, six furlongs, run in 1:21%.

Frank K.'s next start was at Washington Park, on July 7, when he ran, unplaced, in the $20,000 World's Fair stakes. At Washington Park, on July 12, Handsome, 118, and Laureate, 121, beat Frank K., 123, in the Hyde Park stakes, six furlongs, run in 1:144%. At Washington Park, at 18, won the Quickstep stakes, four furlongs, run in 48%, from Flying Dutchman, 123, and Lissak, 118. At Washington Park, on July 20, Gath, 100, and Lissak, 123, beat Frank K., 116, in the Lakeview handicap, six furlongs, run in 1:18%.

At Hawthorne, on Sept. 23, Frank K., 112, beat Leo Lake, 109, at six furlongs, winning by two lengths, in 1:06. At Hawthorne, on Oct. 17, Frank K., 113, beat Rey del Carreres, 113, and Leo Lake, 110, at six furlongs, winning two lengths in 1:16. This was the last race that Magrane gave his good colt in 1893. His record was an exceptionally good one, and, if he stands training, it is believed that he will class with the best three-year-olds out the coming season. The doubt as to his being able to stand training this year is due to the fact that his front underpinning was weak when he was turned out last fall. According to the reports from the winter quarters of the Magrane stable, Frank K., got frisky the other night and kicked his stall all to pi

REFEREE GEORGE SILER

Will Officiate for the Tracey, Ryan, Cree don and Choynaki Bouts.

George Siler, the Chicago pugilistic autho ity, has been agreed upon as referee for the Creedon-Choynski and the Tracey-Ryan bouts, which will take place in Chicago bouts, which will take place in Chicago March 20 and 21. Col. Hopkins wants it stipulated that if both men are in condition to continue the bout at the end of the eighth round the Tracey-Ryan go shall be declared a draw. No decision on points between Tracey and Ryan will be acceptable to Col. Hopkins unless the men can battle at least fifteen rounds. Between Creedon and Choynski it does not make much difference, as both are good mixers and stiff punchers, and with each pursuing these tacties it will not take them over seven rounds to settle the matter.

ROSS AND M'INTYRE.

Well-Known Jockeys to Box at the B. M

The bout between Jockeys Ross and Mo Intyre is sure to prove the feature of the Business Men's Gymnasium tournament at Uhrig's Cave to-night. The two crack knights of the pigskin will box in the 105-pound class and the rivalry between them is something intense. Both are clever with the mitts, and a red-hot contest is looked for. An army of race track followers from Madison and East St. Louis will be on hand to see the bout. Ross has trained faithfully for several weeks past and is as hard as nails.

DECLINED BY DAVIES.

The "Parson" Refuses a Nomination for Alderman in Chicago.

"Parson" Davies, the celebrated pugilis manager, has declined an opportunity to run independently for Alderman from the Twenty-fourth Ward in Chicago, Ili Five citizens of the ward waited on the "Parson" the other night and offered him the nomination, at the same time agreeing to pay all his campaign expenses, but Da-vies was compelled to refuse their gener-ous offer. All his time is taken up in the management of his fighting stars, Peter Jackson, Joe Choynski and Tommy Ryan.

ADVANCED ELEVATOR RATES.

Interstate Barge Line.

The Mississippi Valley Transportation Company Will Endeavor to Crush Its New Competitor.

Mr. William T. Hearstick, vice president of the Mississippi Valley Transportation Company, has announced his intention of driving the Interstate Transportation Company, the new competing barge line, from the field as far as opposition to his line is concerned.

oncerned.

"Yes," said Mr. Haarstick Monday morning when asked by a Post-Dispatch report if his company was responsible for the discrimination in the handling of grain by New Orleans elevators, as published in Sunday's Post-Dispatch, "we don't have to use our tools for the benefit of other people at the same price that we pay for them ourselves. We own the elevators."

The discrimination referred to is the charge of an excess of one-half a cent a bushel for the handling of grain by the New Orleans Elevator Company for all grain not shipped by the Mississippl valley Transportation Company. As the Interstate Transportation Company has to use the New Orleans elevators if it handles that kind of freight, the disadvantage under which it labors is manifest.

"That, of course," continued Mr. Haarstick, "refers only to export shipments. We are not interested in what they (the Interstate people) charge for freight between here and New Orleans. We don't handle any way freight. I don't know whether they are handling any export freight or not. If they are I am not aware of it. Should they go into that time of business they will have a big jeto or hand. I export considerable myself, and have connections in France and other parts of Europe and if they go finto that business I think that I can fax k so that they will be driven out. If they undertake to do business through other parties I think that I can fax k so that they will be driven out. If they andertake to do business through other parties I think that I can fax k so that they will be driven out. If they are and other parties terstate company, is not dismayed by its warlike aspect assumed by its powerful opponent.

"We have not received any bulk grain yet," said he, "but if we do we will handle it. We can make arrangements to have it handled at the same rates."

Asked as to how it would be done, Mr. Gaertner hesitated, and the reporter asked:

"Will you build your own elevator?"

"Yes; but I would not put it that way. We can arrange it through other parties. If we get the freight we will handle it at the same rates as the others."

The Interstate people also bank on the sympathy of the merchants, who, it is thought, will back up the new company for the sake of establishing lower rates. The Interstate company will send out its first boat Tueeday, when the J. P. Jackson will start for New Orleans and way points with a tow of barges.

The Anchor Line is making no fight on the new company, It lowered its rates on way freight to correspond, with the rates of the Interstate company, with its going on doing business just the same. Capt. Mason said to a reporter that his time was not interested in the grain shipping dight, as the Anchor Line's business was almost exclusively way trade.

NEW NIGHT COURSE.

Electric Light Race Track Near the Fair Grounds.

The irrepressible Cole Ullman, the original proprietor of winter racing about St. Louis, and the builder of the East Side and Madison tracks, is planning for the construction of a night course near the Fair Grounds. He claims to have plenty of backing or the venture and announces that the proposed track will be ready for operation by electric light the coming summer. The site selected is between the Fair Grounds and the baseball park and Grand avenue. The track is to be half a mile in circumference, with a large grand stand. Ullman thinks there ought to be good patronage for this track and is satisfied that it will be a success. He is counting on the new anti-pool room law to insure large attendance and good betting at the course. The irrepressible Cole Uliman, the original

SALARY TOO SMALL, No One Wants the Position of Supervising Architect.

There appears to be at least one Government position that office seekers do not grasp for. The position referred to is that of Supervising Architect, and the Treasury Department is very much exercised over the Department is very much exercised over the selection of some one to fill it. The well known St. Louis architect, Isaac Taylor, was asked to accept the position by Congressman Seth W. Cobb, but he refused.

"The reason of it," said Congressman Cobb, "is due to the meager salary offered. The law provides for the appointment of a competent man; also stipulates that the salary shall not exceed 4,500 per year.

"A good architect could not afford to give up his business and go to Washington at that salary, and the Government. I think, will have a hard time filling the vacancy."

Congressman Cobb said that the position was open to a St. Louis architect if he could be found to accept it.

PROTEST AGAINST A SALOON.

County Citizens Do Not Want It Opposit

People living in the vicinity of the Fer uson District School on Olive road, on block west of Sutter post-office, are up it arms against a saloon that is to be opened by Gottlieb Roth, opposite the school. Roth Court to start a club-house, but the citizens think this may be worse than an undisguised saloon. A protest has been filed with the County Court, which, the citizens say, violated the statute forbidding the opening a saloon within 300 feet of a school-house or church. The Circuit Court may be asked to enjoin Roth.

The Republican Primaries.

The Republican primaries will take place on Wednesday, and the convention is scheduled for the following Thursday. Contesting delegations are in the field in six wards, and the battles in at least four of them will be exceedingly interesting.

In the First Ward, the trouble is between the Schweickardt and the Schawacker factions; in the Third Ward, between Committeeman Weber and ex-Sheriff John Henry Pohlman's friends; in the Seventh Ward, between Committeeman Bardal and Alderman Becker; and in the Fifteenth Ward, between the Kraleman-Spelbrink and the Graulich factions. In the Eighth Ward, the ficket headed by Chairman Kalbfell, and in the Eighteenth Ward, the ticket headed by Louis Schoeperkoetter, are thought to have the right of way. The workers regard the contests in both of these wards in a nominal light.

Graulich Discusses Cravens. Gus Graulich, one of the Republican candi dates for the House of Delegates in th Fifteenth Ward, is authority for the state Fifteenth Ward, is authority for the statement that Monroe Cravens is only a stalking horse for Caspar Kraleman and that he will withdraw from the race Tuesday night. Cravens is a colored man and Graulich asserts that he was induced to run in order to keep the colored voters away from him (Graulich). By getting Cravens to withdraw in his favor Kraleman expects to capture his strength, at least so stated Graulich. Kraleman and his friends charge Graulich with being a Butler Democrat.
